and some instances caused gains to be recorded in view of the closing quotations of Wednesday.

The only feature of the movement that was at all curious was the failure of the so-called Hill stocks to sympathize with it in any notable degree. These stocks, although they climbed higher than they did on the preceding day, still only rose but slightly in comparison with their recent heavy decline.

stocks in the last two days.

On the other hand, definite reasons for the rise in the general market to-day were just as hard to find. There is no doubt that speculative operations for the fall played a considerable part in yesterday's decline, and commitments of this character are not, in such a market as has been in progress during the latter half of the year, apt to be left very long outstanding. Presumably, whatever short interest there was in the market made quick haste to "cover."

If they do not compel covering at fancy December ... prices it is only because they know that in this way they would destroy the popularity of the stock, which now lends itself feit attractive possibilities both in the issue itself and in the general market. It costs the Standard Oil interests little to move St. Paul, and yet a large movement in it, if directed from 26 Broadway-the only place from which one of fair propor-New York, Dec. 14.-United States government tions could be directed-exerts a substan tial influence over the entire list. speculative opportunities in St. Paul are thus an asset which is not likely to be thrown away.

> It is said that a large floor operator was obliged to close out his Reading on the break. He is said to have had a large line, and the stock is believed to have passed into strong hands. The supposition is that the heavy selling of the stock early 109% in the week was really intended to dislodge this speculative account, and that the interests which did the gunning were not only able to get back on the decline all they had sold, but considerably more, so, that they are more completely in con trol of the situation in the stock now than

In a bear market all signs fail, but that stage has not been reached yet. Some signs have failed, but not all of them. The one that Great Northern and Northern Pacific were dropped to shut out speculative holding appears to hold good. Clearer evidence of the wonderful 3.75a4.00 growth of the Northwest should hardly he desired than the increases in capitalization made by the great railroads in the year. In the spring, St. Paul issued $25,000,000 of common, and now proposes to issue $75,000,000 preferred. Northwestern sold $16,000,000 common last summer, and has since received authority from its stock holders to increase the total amount of common stock by $100,000,000, presumably for use before very long. Great Northern has announced an issue of $60,000,000, and an issue of $93. 000,000 Northern Pacific is imminent. The same cause underlies all these increases, and the business is growing at a rate which demands great additions to the railroad facilities.

LOCAL FINANCIAL GOSSIP.

Members of the Washington Stock Exchange cut loose on Greene Copper yesterday, and bought and sold at any price at which the stock could be obtained. Trades amounted to 1,480 shares, with one option of 100 shares. The active trading was inspired by the reports from Nev York and the assurance of a local representative of the company that a consolidation of the Greene properties and the Cananea properties in Mexico has been effected, and that the future managemen of the company will be in the hands of amalgamated company. The prices on the Washington Exchange showed less ctuation than in New York, all the sales being between 321/2 and 321/8.

Outside of Greene Copper, there was little trading, most of it being confined to Washington Railway and Electric 4s, which sold $3,000 at 86% and a fraction lower.

Mergenthaler was marked down to exdividend figures, with several bids, but no sales.

Ficklen Claims Pacific Mutual Insurance Concern Is Insolvent. Samuel P. Ficklen began suit in the District Supreme Court against the Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Company yesterday, asking the court to enjoin and Rear Admiral N. E. Mason, Chief of the restrain the insurance company from prosecuting a suit against him for money ment, greatly deplores that the demand for armor plate at present is so small that alleged to be due it.

Ficklen says that on February 1, 1839, armor manufacturers discontinuing its he made a contract with the company manufacture, because, he says, competi- to act as its general agent. He declares that on April 3, last, he was indebted to the company to the amount of $2,455.96, and on that day gave it his type of rifle now in use by the army. He promissory note to be paid in monthly calls attention to the fact that the navy installments of $223.22, and as collateral security he assigned to the company all his interests in the life and endowment policies in operation in this city.

Ficklen claims that since the execution of the note he has paid to the company Committee from New York to Ex- $731.71, and that he has asked for an ac counting repeatedly, which has been re-fused. On December 1 the company filed An invitation will be extended to Presi- suit against Ficklen for the recovery of dent Roosevelt at noon to-day by the $830.83, alleged balance due them.
